SWEET PEACE.

Senator Frye Explains That Treaty.

Only France Seemed Opposed to United States.

Brief Conferences With the President Yesterday.

One at Washington - President and Mrs. McKinley Enjoyed

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—All executive departments were closed today, and most of the private business houses also. At the White House the day was a quiet one, although during the morning the President was in his office and saw several prominent callers Among those were Senators Davis and Frye, each of whom had a talk with the President. When the peace commissioners presented the treaty to the Presidnt on Saturday there was no opportunity for a conference. Senato Frye went to the State Department from the White House. During the afternoon the President and Mrs. Mc Kinley enjoyed a long ride, and in the evening sat down to dinner with their three nephews, who are guests at the White House. Attorney-General and Mrs. Griggs and Assistant Secretary of the Navy Allen and Mrs. Allen were visitors at the Executive Mansion for time in the evening.

> SENATOR FRYE ON PEACE. ent not Committed Re garding Territory.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—Senator Frye tailed today to a Star reporter with respect to the conditions attending and resulting from the peace ne gotiations. With respect to the frequently-repeated statement in press dispatches that the sentiment of the powers, with the exception of England. was opposed to the United States and looked with disfavor upon the attitude of this government in dealing with Spain, Senator Frye said:

'I saw no evidence of such sentiment existing outside of France, and in France that sentiment appeared to be confined to the press, which does not reflect the sentiment of the nation nor the people generally."

"Do you think there will be any restoration of cordial relations between Spain and the United States?"

"I think that very soon after the ratification of the peace treaty and the estoration of diplomatic relations, there will be no difficulty about negotiating commercial treaties, and a treaty for the release of prisoners, and such other matters directed toward the perfect restoration of friendly relations between the two governments. I do not believe that the Spanish government will be at all disposed to keep up unfriendly feeling between the two g adapted to the present conditions would be better than the restoration of the old treaties, some features of which were obsolete.

"What has been published with respect to the treaty of peace seems to indicate, does it not, that this government is not committed by these negotiations with respect to the future disposition of the territory, the Spanish sovereignty over which has been re-

"It indicates very strongly that this government is not committed in any way whatever with respect to the disposition and government of these If we are insane enough to islands. do so, we might give them all back to Spain after the ratification of treaty. If we were fools we might divide them up among the other foreign them up among the other foreign powers. The whole matter is left in the hands of Congress. Congress car make any disposition of the islands in sees fit.

"The ratification of the treaty will not in any way curtail any privileges of ours in this direction."

CANAL COMMISSION.

Admiral Walker Says the Report in Nearly Ready-Figures. [ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—Admiral Walker, chairman of the Nicaraguan Canal Commission, when questioned to day as to the time when the report of the commission would be sent to Con-gress, said that the time could not be stated definitely as the report had not been signed nor entirely completed. He presumed, however, that it would be ready within the next very few

In answer to further inquiries, the admiral said that, there was no differences of opinion among the members of the commission except possibly on the estion of cost, and that difference would be unanimous on all points. Owing to the illness of Mr. Haines during the last ten days, practically nothing had been done, but now that the commission was together again, a conclusion on this and other points member of the commission fixed the maximum at $140,000,000, but stated that it might cost considerably less, and it had been the opinion of the third member of the commission that the caual would not cost more than $90, 000,000. All were agreed, however, that these figures were and could be only

There were too many considerations and contingencies that might change the result materially. An epidemic of cholera or fever might lay off half the working force, accidents to machinery or possibly earthquakes might damage the work in course of construction, and, while none of these were likely to happen, yet they were among the possibilities and in estimating the cost of the work a reasonable provision had been made for accidents of various kinds. All the members of the comhe said, are agreed that the construction of the canal on the route proposed is entirely feasible, and should be prosecuted with all reasonable ex-pedition.

EXPORTS TO CANADA.

TRADE OF THE UNITED STATES STILL INCREASES.

New Dominion Tariff Law Has No Particular Effect, Though it is Discriminating—Gaining Over Great Britain-Figures Worth

[A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.1 NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—A special to the Tribune from Washington says that the new Canadian tariff does not appear to have decreased the exports from the United States to that country. That measure, enacted in 1897, provided that goods entering Canada from Great Britain and her colonies should enjoy a tariff rate 25 per cent. less than that collected on goods from other countries, one-half of that reduction going into effect on August 1, 1897, and the re-mainder on August 1, 1898. The exportation from the United States to Canada has, therefore, since August 1, 1898, been made under what ever disadvantage the new discriminat-ing rates of that tariff afford. It is therefore interesting to compare the figures of the exports to Canada since that date both with those of the corresponding months of 1897, in which only one-half of the discriminating rate was in operation and with those of 1896, within which no discriminating rate existed.

The figures of the Treasury Bureau of Statistics, covering the details of the of Statistics, covering the details of the export trade are now available for the months of August, September and October. They show that dains the three months of 1898, in which the full 25 per cent. reduction in fave treatment of the exports from the United states to Canada were larger than in any corresponding three months in the nistens of our commerce with that country in fact the exports from the United States to Canada have never shown more rapid gains than since the enactment of the new Canadian tariff gaining to imports from Great Britain and

ing to imports from Great Britain and her colonies from those of the United In the first three months of its opfavor of goods from Great Britain in-creased only 12½ per cent, exports from the United States to Canada increased nearly $4,000,000, compared with the corresponding months of 1896, against an average gain of $2,500,000 in the corresponding periods of earlier years. In August, September and October, 1898, however, which were under the full operation of the new law, the increase over the corresponding months of 1897 is more than $5,000,000.
The total exports from the United States to Canada in August, September and October of the present year under whatever of disadvantage the new law in its full operation affords, are nearly 50 per cent, in excess of the corresponding months of 1896 and practically double those of the corresponding months

Commodore Cromwell, commander of the new naval station at Havana, has notified the Navy Department that he has hoisted his flag on the auxiliary cruiser Resolute, which has just arrived at that port. That vessel will remain at Havana as a station ship. Other naval movements were reported as follows:

The tank steamer Arethus has arrived at Havana with a full supply of fresh water. The coilier Sterling arrived at Montevideo yesterday, and the Spanish prizes Sandoval and Alvarado have arrived at Norfolk.

Word was received at the War Department that the hospital ship Bay State, which arrived yesterday at Santiago de Cuba, had proceeded to Kingston. There is a board of medical officers on the ship, who are to inspect the methods adopted by the British army for the care and subsistence of troops in the tropics.

CHADWICK TALKS BACK. Tells the Engineering Magazine

Thing or Two.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] NEW YORK, Dec. 26,—Capt. G. E Chadwick, commander of the cruise New York, now lying off Tompkinsville gave out a statement today denying allegations made in an article published in the Engineering Magazine. In the article referred to starements were made to the effect that the United States warships that destroyed Cervera's fleet at Santiago on July 3 were really not in a proper state of pre-paredness when the Spanish fleet passed out through the channel, at-tempting to escape. The engines were uncoupled, it was stated; the boilers were either empty or full of salt water, and the grates were cold. Capt. Chadwick says: "The New York and Brooklyn have four engines, all of which together can only be used to advantage with full power. The New York was using fortyonly be used to advantage with full power. The New York was using forty-five tons of coal a day on the blockade as it was. It was the practice to keep steam on four of the six bollers, a fifth filled with water kept hot by the hydrokineted and primed ready for firing, and a sixth cleaning. This was the condition the day of the action. The sixth boller, as were all the others was filled with fresh, not sait, water. To have kept fire sufficient to use efficiently all the engines coupled would have occasioned an expenditure of coal which would have forced the New York from her scation, as it did the others. As it was she was hanging by her eyelids, so to speak, avoiding as long as possible going to Guantanamo for coal. "The use of her engines and the Brooklyn's, coupled before the moment of full power, would have been a very serious detriment, and after full speed was on it would have been a beard to have stopped to couple, when going sixteen or seventeen knots, and thus lose from four to five miles, when it was so clearly apparent that the chase, was being rapidly overhauled. placed on the retired list on December 26, 1899. Only one other retirement will occur next year—that of Commodore H. L. Howison, now commandant of the Boston navy yard.

"There is a strong sentiment in naval circles in favor of the passage of a law which will permit the retention of Admiral Dewey upon the active list for ten years, as was done in the case of the heroes of the civil war.

"Reports from Manila that Admiral Dewey desires to return home are not believed by department officials, their divices from him indicating that he desires to remain in the Philippines. It is not expected here that he will be detached from the command of the Asiatic station until just in time, to reach the United States on the even of his religious to the Navy work is being pushed by the Navy

Cen. Greene Has Private Business Demanding His Attention. [ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—Maj.-Gen. rancis E. Greene, U.S.A., commanding y his aide, Lieut. Schuyler Schieffer-n. Forty-seventh New York Volunteer stantry, passed through this city today on their way from Havana to New Corbin in regard to the condition of affairs in the Cuban capital. He said that there would undoubtedly be trouble in the maintenance of order pending the transfer of the control of affairs from the Spanish government to the United States military authorities, but he did not anticipate that it would reach proportions beyond the control of the American forces. According to his representations, the feeling between the Spaniards and Cubans is intensely bitter, a serious rupture between the two factions now being averted only by the presence of American troops, and the knowledge that the American military authorities are determined to military authorities are determined to preserve order by the prompt exercise of force in case of necessity.

Gén. Greene has large private interests in New York State, and today gave notice to the Adjutant-General of his desire to be relieved of further military service, in view of the practical tary service, in view of the practical conclusion of peace between Spain and the United States. He expects to return here on Wednesday for the purpose of further consultation with the authorities in regard to the conditionand military necessities in Cuba. If perfectly agreeable to the President, he will tender his resignation from the strmy.

and allotments unless the government pays them for the land as the Nez Perces and Couer d'Alenes were paid for theirs.

There are about 1,500,000 acres on the reservation, and the contention of the government is that the Indians have no title to it. The government proposed to allot eighty acres to each Indian in severalty, and give them nothing more. The Indians, led by Chief Aura Paghuin and Chief Bermard, demand that they be paid about $1,500,000, claiming this under the report of a commission which examined into the matter some time after the reservation was set apart by President Grant's proclamation in July, 1872.

SMARTEST ON EARTH.

Emma Thursby's Starling Speak

Five Different Languages.

[New York Heraid:] Mynah is the smartest bird on the continent, and for varied voice accomplishments has no superior in the world. Mynah is the East Indian name of his species, which belongs to the clever starling family and so his owner calls him starling family, and so his owner calls him. He was the center of attraction on Thursday at the bird show of the New York Ornitho-logical Society, and in his most clever per-formances was a favorite, particularly with the younger visitors, of whom he is very fond.

fond. When Mynah is sitting quiet, with a knowing twist to his head and his little beadlike black eyes glistening like jet hued diamonds, he would not attract more attention than the ordinary bird of his family, for he is quite plain in appearance, with yellow bill and legs, black head and shoulders, brown body and white tipped tail and white breast. But when he oners his mouth and everylees and legs, black head and shoulders, brown body and white tipped tail and white breast. But when he opens his mouth and exercises his versatile vocal organs he seems to approach the human.

I was honored with a private interview with Mynah at the home of his owner, Miss Emma Thursby, at No. 34 Gramercy Park, and so saw him under more than ordinary advantages and disadvantages, which depended on the humor of the bird.

As I approached the room where Mynah was I heard a twanging as of Indian instruments, similar to the music (?) heard on the Midway Plaisance. When I entered I was surprised to see no performers, but Mynah alone, with open mouth and vibrating larynx, from which came the metallic notes of an Orientai hanjo and tomtom. The bird held on to a high note for a long time while "sizing me up," then suddenly cased and gave his flexible neck a knowing twist. "What do you want here?" he asked in good English.

Miss Thursby laughed and I explained my

"What do you want here. He sakes in good Engish.

Miss Thursby laughed and I explained my mission. Then he replied in Malayan and actually ended up with a laugh when he saw that I didn't understand him.

Then he went into the "dumps" for a few minutes, which was one of the disadvantages of the position, and refused to make a sound notwithstanding Miss Thursby's most earnest entreaties.

"Hello!" he cried after a minute, as though he had just returned from his native India and was looking at me for the first time.

After the ice was broken he rattled on tive India and was looking at me for the first time.

After the ice was broken he rattled on like a good fellow, favoring me with the language of the Malayan archipelago, China, France, Germany and Engind. In some of these he spoke only a few words, in others entire sentences. In German he carried on the conversation of a family, imitating four voices, from the "piping treble" of the old man to the stumbling squeak of an infant.

He varied his conversation with songs, amusing himself and entertaining me by running an octave up and down as though it were just as easy as could be. Then he sang the high and difficult notes of "The Magic Flute" and suddenly dropped into a Chinese dirge the burden of which is "Quang ke!"

After a moment's rest he gave some re-

Chinese dirge the burden of which is "Quang ke?"

After a moment's rest he gave some remarkable imitations of nightingale and canary singing, ending with a banjo solo, after which I could not get his attention, for he had hopped to the window and was absorbed in a battle of snowballs between the boys in Gramercy Park, and the less fortunate young denizens of the neighborhood, who were outside the open iron fence.

Mynah is a great traveler. Miss Thursby received him as a gift in Germany eleven years ago, when he was three years old, and bediff that he had been denoted the had been denoted the had been to have the sold the had been to have the sold the had been to have the had been to have the been to have the winter the had sistened the had seven been in Alaska, and during his travels there was kept folded in a feather bed.

The bird enjoys traveling and is always.

The bird enjoys traveling and is always in the best of humor when in a boat or car, will gladly, on slight solicitation, go through nis varied repertoire, and always to the delight of his fellow travelers.

NEWS SINCE MIDNIGHT

[Under this heading are printed the very latest exclusive dispatches, being the cream of the news in the New York morning newspapers of today, which is wired from that city by the Times' special New York correspondent about 5 a.m. reaching Los Angeles about 2 a.m.]

PRESIDENT'S POLICY.

PLANS OF THE ADMINISTRATIO ARE OUTLINED.

dember of the Cabinet Talks the Philippine Question-The Canal-Oregon and Iowa Greeted by Cubans-Russian Loan-Greene's Discharge.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The expedition which started from Manila last night for Iloilo, in the Philippines, to maintain order there, consisted of a signal detachment, Battery G, of the Sixth Artillery, the Eighteenth Regulars and the Fiftyfirst Iowa Regiment, under command of Gen. Miller. They left Manila on board the transports Pennsylvania, Arizona and Newport. The expedition was convoyed by the Baltimere. It is believed the Spaniards are on the point of evacuating Iloilo. The President's plan for the Philippine Islands are attracting much attention at Washington and is a subject of discussion among those high in authority. A prominent member of the Cabinet yesterday outlined the administration's plans in this regard as follows, pre-supposing that the peace treaty will be promptly ratified by the Senate:

"First-That while the products of Porto Rico and Hawaii are to come in free, the products of the Philippines must pay the Dingley tariff duty. We are to trade with them on the same ba-is as with the rest of the world. "Second-the 'open-door' policy will ot affect the customs dues between the United States and the Philippine Islands. To make them self-supporting, the Philippine tariff schedule will require this country to pay its share of the customs duties.

"Third-The United States is to take the Filipinos under its care; to teach hem the principles of republican institutions; to install into them a love of liberty and free institutions.

"Fourth-To help them to acknowledge of self-government, and, while military rule must be maintained until other laws have been made, to place the island government on a self-sustaining, paying basis. Beyond this the administration has thus far not gone. Aguinaldo's envoy, Felipe Agoncillo left New York for Washington last night, has abandoned all idea of the immediate independence of the Filipinos, and has become nearly reconciled to American control of the islands for the time being, at least. One ob ject of his going to Washington is to endeavor to make arrangements for the entrance of several young Filipinos into West Point Military Academy. Mean while he proposes studying America educational and tariff systems. VIGILANT'S COAL BURNING. A telegram to the Navy Department from Admiral Dewey says the collier Vigilant had arrived at Manila with her coal on fire. No particulars are given. The collier Sterling has arrived at Montevideo on the way to Norfolk. She was one of the vessels sent ahead of the battleships Iowa and Oregon to supply them with coal on their voyage to the Pacific. She landed a cargo at Punta Arenas, Straights of Magellan, and started back.

CANAL COMMISSION. Rear Admiral Walker (retired,) chairman of the Nicaragua Canal Commission, stated again yesterday that the report to Congress had not yet been completed, but that a few days would see it finished. There was no difference of opinion among the members of the commission, except possibly on the question of cost, and that the difference might be adjusted so that the report would be unanimous on all points Estimates of the cost range from $90, 000,000 to $114,000,000, but $125,000, 000 would probably be the figure de-eided upon. All the members of the commission Admiral Walker said, are agreed that the construction of the canal on the route proposed is entirely feasible, and prosecuted with all reason able expedition.

CAUSED EXCITEMENT. The arrival of the Oregon and Iowa at Callao caused the greatest excitement and enthusiasm. The ships entered the harbor at 7 o'clock yesterday morning, and great crowds went out to see them during the day.

Delegations representing the Cuban residents of Peru went to Callao to meet the warships. They presented to each a gold plate, with the name changed, and each bore the inscription: 'All honor to the commander, officers and crew of the U. S. warship Oregon, victorious in the naval combat Santiago de Cuba on the third day of July, 1898. This plate is given as a testimony of the patriotic gratitude of all the Cuban citizens of Peru."

RUSSIAN LOAN.

The arrival of Lord Rothschild at St. Petersburg is awaited with the keenest interest. Russia's hope for the conclusion of a loan is resting almost exclusively on him. Russia, in order to gain her ends, promises Lord Roths child great concessions in Asia, in-cluding the sale of mines and the lease of a large tract of country for European colinization. It seems that the Russo-American loan negotiations were circulated mainly with the object of inducing British financiers to lend money to Russia.

On the other hand, it is reported that Pobledonostsoff, Procurator of the Holy Synod, and Count Lamsdorff, who is assistant to Count Muravieff. Minister for Foreign Affairs, are using their undoubtedly great influence to counteract the negotiations of M. Witte, Minlater of Finance, with Rothschild, and are playing Great Britain against the United States. ANDREE NOT FOUND.

the discovery. The premium on gold in Chile is now 41.60 per cent. MEAN TO SELL

Unless stopped by Americans, the Spaniards in Havana mean to sell, on December 30, the furniture and contents of the Alfonso XIII Hospital of that city, including 1400 beds and cots used by the Spanish patients. Contagious diseases are treated there, and the sale would spread infection all over

WILL BE DISCHARGED.

Maj.-Gen. F. V. Greene, U.S.V., will be discharged from the service today, having placed his resignation in the President's hands some time back. He says he is satisfied from what he has seen in Cuba that the government does now no longer need him, and he is de-termined to return at once to his pro fessional and personal duties. He is satisfied that the American organiza tion in Cuba is sufficient for any emer-gency it might be called on to meet Gen. Greene's reassuring expre have materially raised the spir the War Department authorities.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.] HAVANA, Dec. 26.—[By West Indian able.] The American Evacuation Commissioners will tomorrow the following proclamation to the in-habitants of the island of Cuba:

The undersigned commissioners on the part of the United States, having been invested with power by the President to arrange for and execute the evacuation of Cuba and adjacent islands, and also taking over the public property of Spain, have entered into an agreement with the commissioners on the part of Spain for the final ceremonies and regulations to be observed and carried out on the 1st day of January and thereafter until all the Spanish troops shall have embarked for repatriation, and the same is published for the guidance of the inhabitants and others outside of the Santiago district. "The undersigned desire in this public order and due respect for the gravity of the occasion may prevail, and especially to admonish all classes of people to exercise self-restraint and moderation, and refrain from giving cause of offense or irritation and from exhibition of excitement, undue manifestation of feeling, or from doing any act calculated to produce irritation or bad feeling, or from doing any act calculated to produce irritation or bad feeling, or from doing any act calculated to produce irritation or bad feeling, or from doing any act calculated to produce irritation or bad feeling, or from doing any act calculated to produce irritation or bad feeling, or from doing any act calculated to produce irritation or bad feeling, or from doing any act calculated to produce irritation or bad feeling, or from doing any act calculated to produce irritation or bad feeling, or from doing any act calculated to produce irritation or bad feeling, or from doing any act calculated to produce irritation or bad feeling, or from doing any act calculated to produce irritation or bad feeling, or from doing any act calculated to produce irritation or bad feeling, or from doing any act calculated to produce irritation or bad feeling, or from doing any act calculated to produce irritation or bad feeling, or from doing any act calculated to produce irritation or bad feeling, or from doing any act calculated to produce irritation or bad f "The undersigned commissioners on the part of the United States, having Spaniards and Americans, will be thereby subserved.

"Acting under a sense of duty to the people and our government, we give notice that any violation of the terms and provisions of this agreement will be resented and the offenders brough promptly to justice. Representing all classes and interests, we shall be governed by the strictest impartiality, with the sole purpose of promoting the rehabilitation and pacification of Cuba. The preservation of peace, the security to persons and property, and the establishment and maintenance of government, with just laws impartially administered, are indispensable, to the welfare and happiness of the people. We therefore confidently invoke the aid and cooperation of the inhabitants in accomplishing these ends. The agreement is as follows:

"Whereas, the convention entered into on the 16th day of November. 1898, between the commissioners of the United States and the commissioners of Spain, provides that the final evacuation of the territory of Cuba and adjacent Spanish islands by the forces of Spain shall be completed at 12 o'clock meridian on the 1st day of January, 1899, and says that if for unavoidable reasons the embarkation of the Spanish forces shall not be completed on the date herein fixed, in such case sultable and convenient places shall be designated for the residence of the remaining Spanish troops until their embarkation shall be accomplished, it being well understood, however, that these troops will not be ejected from their quarters during the time of the will always the shall make delivery to the American functionaries who may executation shall be accomplished, it being well understood, however, that these troops will not be ejected from their quarters during the safeguard of the armies of the United States until they can be sent home. "Fifth—No Import duties or charges of any kind or character will be levied by customshouse officials upon the material of war of the Spanish or upon the personal effects of Spanish solders and officers or on those of their families.

"Sixth—Hospitals with their sick, attendants and medical officers in evacuated territory will be under the projection of the army of the United States, the Spanish authorities providing everything necessary for the care and subsistence and the transportation of the sick so detained and for repatriation upon recovery.

"Seventh—The general-in-chief of the Spanish army agrees that his officers and soldiers will preserve the most any should enter the houses or lands of private persons without consent of owners, he shall severely punish the offenders.

"Eighth—Should any offense be committed by any officer or soldier of the Spanish against inhabitants, he will promptly be brought to trial by the proper military authorities of said forces before a proper Spanish military brought to justice by the commanding officer of the Spanish forces will be promptly brought to justice by the commander of the United States forces in connection with the commanding officer of the Spanish forces.

"Ninth—In the event of any injury or damage to persons or property being committed by the Spanish troops, the injured parties shall have the right to injured parties shall have the right to

cate as the code of civil law. It cannot be said that the system, under Spanish methods, at least, offers encouragement to those who favor a government postal telegraph. The United States will not have to meet that question now, because of the practical difficulties in the way of administering the telegraph system as part of the postoffice system. Under the military rule which is to be established for the entire island, the telegraph lines will be military ones. The signal-service corps will have charge of that. These lines are in bad condition. To repair them and get the system in working order will require several weeks. When this is done, in addition to the use by the army, the lines will afford ample facilities for the transaction of private business. The volume of commercial messages is not likely to be large for a year or more. "Some of the Havana merchants do not have a clear idea of what the American military control means. They do not understand why Col. Bliss, an army officer, should be named for collector of customs, or why similar positions are to be under military control. They have been misled into believing that all civil emplowments are to be turned over to the military arm. A little experience under actual administration will remove their misgivings. Military responsibility will exist for all administration and for that reason army officers will be at the head of all important departments, but there is no intention of having soldiers to discharge the duties which can only be natisfactorily performed by civilians. Many of the Spanish employés, both military and civil, whose functions will cease on January 1, have been led to think that the United States will make good the due hills, or "JOLI" which the Spanish authorities have been issuing in satisfaction of all obl'actions. This belief is not unversal, but it is general enough to ra'se hopes which will be disappointed. is not unversal, but it is general enough to raise hopes which will be disap-

RIOTOUS CHRISTMAS.

Various Disturbances in Havans New Police Force.
[A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Dec. 26.—A special to the Pribune from Havāna says: "Christmas day was ushered into Havana by the cracking of revolvers and rattling volleys from Mauser rifles in an affray which occurred near the center of the city, between the Spanish troops garrisoning the city and the Cuban residents. One Cuban was faally wounded, two others were badly injured, and a Spanish soldier was stabbed. A Cuban who received three younds made by Mauser bullets and bad cut across his forehead, and who a bad cut across his horneau, and who was taken to the emergency hospital, is reported to be dying.

"The affair was brought on by the Cubans, who fired from a housetop on a company of soldiers asleep in the

"The soldiers sprang to their feet and at once returned the fire. A company of infantry scaled the low wall on one side of the building and hunted over the rooftops for the individuals who had begun the firing. They found a negro badly wounded, and carried him down. Other injured men were carried away by their friends.

"The volley from the Mausers caused great alarm among the Americans, many fearing the fighting would become general throughout the city. An affray on Christmas night between troops and Cubans had been prophesied by those who have watched events for the last few days.

warnings they had received to stay in their homes during the evening. At midnight many were on the street. The Cuban element of the city's population was demonstrative all evening. Fearing trouble, the guard of Spanish troops about the city was doubled. Toward midnight the city streets were alive with people in cabs and on foot, singing and shouting.

"It grew quieter after midnight, when suddenly the cracking of revolvers was heard in the direction of the Hotel Roma. There was a moment's pause. Then came a plunging fire of Mausers across from the Hotel Roma. "At the corner of Tentiente Rey and Moltzerrat streets is a cluster of low, one-story dwellings. On the flat roofs, in the white moonlight, a party of Cubans had been celebrating the advent of Christmas. "Under the dark corridors of the Hotel Roma, across the street, a company of Spanish regulars lay stretched out asleep.

"The soldiers sprang to their feet, and the Mausers banged away as fast as they could pull the triggers.

"Bullets riddled the front of the building, and the soldiers climbed to the roof and hunted for the enemy. For a while the guard would permit no one to wander about the streets until the first excitement was over.

"The Christmas celebration began again with numerous clashes between the troops. Several times during the night firing was heard in the city.

"There is renewed apprehension over the situation. It is feared as the Spaniards go away there will not be enough eff toward the end of the week before the United States troops take possession to preserve order.

"Gen. Ludlow has had an interview with Cant.-Gen. Castellanos. He said to Castellanos there must be order if it took every American soldier at Marianao to restore it. Cant.-Gen. Castellanos called up the civil Governor. De Castro, who said the disorder had been quelled.

"The American troops would hardly sieged Col. Moulton's headquarters at all times clamoring for places on the force. Seven inspectors appointed from the line of the volunteer service have seen ordered to report on Monday for duty. Capt. Thompson, commissary officer of the Second Illinois, is one of the new inspectors. The new policemen will not carry rifles, but will be equipped much like the American policemen. They will wear blue uniforms, straw hats and carry 'billies.' Precincts will be mapped out in the various parishes, and a telephone service instituted between the stations, and until patrol wagons can be procured from the United States, army ambulances will convey Havana marauders to the station house.

Police Station Afire.

A careless smoker set the Police Sta-tion afire last night, but the blaze was extinguished before any damage was done. When Detective Goodman was retiring to the detective's dormitory or the third floor, about 1 o'clock, he found the hallway on the second flo filled with stinking smoke. An investi-gation disclosed the fact that a wooden box filled with sawdust, used for a cuspidor, on the landing of the stairs to the third floor had been ignited by a lighted eigar stump which some one had deposited there during the day. The box was burned through to the floor, and all that was needed was a slight draft to kindle a lively blaze. Goodman gave the alarm of fire, and Officers Stiles and Rico improvised a bucket brigade and doused the fire with two pails of water.

Spanish Territory in the New World Limited, Indeed. [ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] CHICAGO, Dec. 26.—A censored sp

"Rioting began at Montserrat tonight.

A battalion of Spanish troops hurried from the barracks on the Prado to Galiano street, the dividing line beween Cuban and Spanish territory. "Order was restored, but in the firing which occurred before the troops arrived, an eight-year-old Cuban child was killed by a stray bullet. "Spanish territory in the new world is now limited to a narrow strip of land between Havana Harbor and Galano'street. The flags of Cuba Libre and the United States are waving within two blocks of the Prado, a great boulevard which runs through the center of Havana.

great boulevard which runs through the center of Havana.
"Montserrat having been evacuated, the place was alive today with Cubans and people from the United States. The scene enacted at Cerro and Vedado last week and at Jesus Del Monte yesterday was repeated at Montserrat. There was even a greater demonstration, for Montserrat comes almost to the city. Some of the flags leaped across the dividing line and waved on the Spanish side. The celebration was begun on Christmas night, and today reached its height. The crowds of men and women waving Cuban and American flags and carrying branches of trees, paraded the streets, shouting and singing.

DEWEY'S ENFORCED FAST

NO CHRISTMAS CHEER FOR THE POLICE STATION EAGLE.

the Pot. So the Noble Bird Got None-Close Call for the Chief's Dog-Eagle Brand of Detective and Other Things, Dewey was cheated out of his Christ vas dinner, and to make the matter was obliged to fast all of yesterday.

The glad Christmastide, when even the hobos in the City Jail feasted on roast meats and mince pies, brought no good cheer to Dewey in the shape of viands. In Dewey's case the scrip-tures, "To whom that hath shall be given; and from him that hath not of viands. In Dewey's case the scriptures, "To whom that hath shall be given; and from him that hath not shall be taken even that he hath," was literally fulfilled.

It was not the hero of Manila who was slighted thus, but his namesake at the Police Station. Dewey is a bird—the bird of freedom, which was taken into captivity last summer by Capt. Roberts, Detective Auble, Clerk Hensley and Officer Harris while trapping bear and other game in the Tehachepi Mountains.

Dewey is as fine a specimen of the American eagle as ever put his foot into a coyote trap and lived to be sorry for it. The only solid satisfaction the eagle has had since his capture was when he inserted his talons into the seat of Detective Auble's pantaloons and made him walk Spanish back to camp, where his fellow officers performed a surgical operation which freed Auble from the bird. Should Mr. Auble ever get lost he may be identified by the eagle brand which he wears at the base of his spine since his memorable encounter with the Dewey of the feathered tribe.

Dewey has become quite docile since his captivity, and is now the pride of the force. He occupies a large cage in the basement of the Police Station, where Patrol Driver McKenzie keeps a watchful eye over him, and is superintending his education. He is an apt pupil, and is learning very rapidly. "Mac" has trained him to get on a shield of the Union which is to be carried at the head of police parades. Trainer McKenzie says the eagle can now do everything but talk, and he thinks it will not be long before he will be able to do that as gibl as any parrot. The eagle has not got cold feet. In that respect he differs from some human bipeds. One of the steam-heating pipes of the station runs through Dewey's cage, and upon this he was that respect he differs from some hu-man bipeds. One of the steam-heating pipes of the station runs through Dewey's cage, and upon this he was wont to roost until cold weather began. The sensations which the proud bird experienced when the steam was first The sensations which the proud bird experienced when the steam was first turned on can be readily imagined. As the metal began to get hot. Deweywould draw up one foot, then put it down hastily and lift the other. This process kept him dancing at a lively rate for some time, until finally his feet were well-nigh parboiled, and he came near being a hot bird all over. When he couldnt stand it any longer, he flew the flue, as it were, and roosted on the floor like any common member of the web-footed family, and made him morose and unhappy. Seeing his sad plight, Trainer Mc-Kenzie provided a wooden perch, and Dewey is once more a happy bird, except when he misses his meals as has been the case during the last two days. Dewey is a pareticular bird as to his diet. He eschews grass, vegetables and all boiled foods, and chews only meat in the raw state. The fresher and bloodier the better he likes it, and nothing tickles his palate so much as live game, be it bird, reptile or qradruped.

A pound of fresh meat is Dewey's

live game, be it bird, reptile or qradruped.

A pound of fresh meat is Dewey's accustomed meal. When the meat rations for the prisoners in the City Jali are ordered. Dewey is hardly ever overlooked, but some of the hobo cooks in the jail kitchen have been playing it low down on the noble bird. The meat laid aside for Dewey has found its way into the pot, and that is why Dewey has gone hungry the last few days. Capt. Roberts and Trainer McKenzle only found out this outrage yesterday, and their indignation knew no-bounds. The captain's blood boiled to think that the great American eagle should be subjected to such inhuman treatment at Christmas of all times in the year, and he swore by the great horn spoon that he would, send the man who stole Dewey's meat to the blackhole if the culprit was discovered. Yesterday being a holiday the meat the blackhole if the culprit was discovered.

Yesterday being a holiday, the meat markets were all closed, so no new supply of fresh meat for Dewey could be purchased, and he had to go hungry to bed. Capt Roberts wanted to know if there was not some small useless animal about the station that could be sacrificed to appease the hunger of the eagle. A trusty replied that he had noticed a pup in the stable.

"Go fetch him." quoth the captain.
"Don't your do it," cried Patrol Driver McKenzie in horror. "That's the prize fox-terrier pup that I am raising for Chief Glass. Would you feed the Chief's dog to an eagle?"

McKenzie's timely warning saved the puppy's life, and as no other fresh meat' could be found. Dewey tucked his head disconsolately under his wing and went to sleep to dream of the breakfast of lamb chops promised him on the morrow.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.-The question of supremacy between human and machine pacemaking for bicycle riders has yet to be determined. Tonight at Madison Square Garden the American Cycle Racing Association held one of Cycle Racing Association held one of its tournaments, where amateurs and professionals struggled hard for hon-ors, and the nights programme was to have been wound up with a twenty-mile race between H. D. Elkes, the one-hour champion of Glen Falls, N. Y., paced by regular pacemakers, and Jay Eaton and Eddie Goodman, paced by the French machine.

Eaton was chosen to ride the first ten miles behind the motor, but in the third mile, when Elkes had a lead of more than a lap, the machine broke down, owing to the snapping of a strap which controlled the running of the machine, and then the interest lagged. Soon afterward, Eaton fell in behind Elkes and after he had gone ten miles, Goodman tacked on. Good-man soon found his pacemakers too slow, and tacked on behind the Glens Falls rider, who was flying around the track. At the end of the eighteenth mile Elkes had a lead of one mile, but he did not relinquish his fast pace, while Goodman was taken up by fresh tandems. In the last lap of the twentieth mile Elkes rode ahead of his pacemakers, and finished the distance in 41:412-5, with Goodman almost a mile behind. Jimmy Michaels's time for this distance over the same track was 40:39.

for this distance over the same track was 40:39.

Harry Gibson of Cincinnati, a lad of 16 years, rode an exhibition half-mile, paced by a tandem, in 0:59 3-5. This performance stamps the young man as a crackajack, as the time made beats that of Tom Cooper over the same track by one-fifth of a second. The races were won as follows:

HOT TIME IN DARKTOWN. Young Mulatto Attempts to "Carve"

There was a hot time at the two colored clubs on North Los Angeles street last night. There was a special cake walk for the delectation of a party of white bloods at Simpson's Republi-can Club, and a dance at the Manhattan Club, across the way. Both places were thronged with revelers of all col-tan Club, across the way. Both places were thronged with revelers of all colors till a late hour.

The Manhattan Club festivities were enlivened by what nearly proved to be a stabbling affray. A young mulatto, known by the nickname of "Broncho," made two attempts to "carve" a colored woman named Lizzie Carlton. "Broncho" formerly lived with the woman, but recently she cast him off, since which time he has been making threats against her life.

A few nights ago, while acting as doorkeeper at the Manhattan Club, "Broncho" had an open knife in his vest bocket to carve Lizzie should she try to enter the club. The facts were reported to a policeman, who disarmed "Broncho" and made him promise to behave himself. The belligerent "coon" was discharged from the employ of the club on account of this incident. Last night he and the woman met at the club, and, it is alleged, he made two separate attempts to get at her with his knife. The matter was reported to Officer Robbins, who placed "Broncho" under arrest. The open knife, ground to a keen edge, was again found in his pocket. He gave the name of William Hill, and was booked for disturbing the peace. The Carlton woman said she would today swear to a complaint charging him with making threats to kill, or assault, with a deadly weapon.

Bob Thompson, the colored pugliist, expects to sign articles today to fight Mose La Fontise, the Montana boxer, who has, an engagement to box ten rounds as a preliminary bout to the Creedon-Green fight in San Francisco next Friday evening. Thompson will sign the papers and send them to San Francisco for Fontise's signature. The battle is to take place here under the auspices of the Manhattan Club in the near future.

(Detroit Free Press:) "Fli tell you a story about President Cleveland that you probably never heard," said a prominent Detroiter the other day. One of those rascally loafers in Washington who sometimes find their way into office rented the house of an aged widow who was dependent on that source for her entire income. He put her off from month to month, and finally laughted in her face as he told her that he wouldn't pay, and that she couldn't make him pay. He would not so out till the law put him out, and he would avail himself of all the delays possible. She consulted a lawyer who had been a friend of her family for years, but the loaferish office-holder was even more impudent to him. The case was so hard that he went personally to the President, who heard the facts and then said in an indignant tone: 'Get the fellow's note.'

"But his note isn't worth the paper it it writetn on." A Dubions Compliment.

An Admirer of Women.

[Washington Star:] I was riding along the road leading across Hurricane Gap, in the Pine Mountain range, thinking of the peculiar people who lived in these fastnesses, when I was startled by a voice up the hillside calling me to come up and give somebody a lift. I had no idea who owned the voice, but whoever it was was in trouble, and I responded and found a man of 60 or more caught by the foot under a fallen tree and unable to get away. He wasn't hurt, and I soon had him on his feet, and he insisted on my stopping further down the mountain and taking dinner with him. He lived in a well-kept cabin with his daughter, and after dinner we sat in the shade of a tree in the yard and he told me about himself.

"Alr you married?" he asked, after he told me he was a widower.

"No, but I hope to be some day," I answered, quite sincerely.

"You ought to be; every man ought to be; a man that ain't ain't showin' a right feelin' to'rds what the Lord's done fer him; ther ain't nothin' on the face uv God's green earth that is a patchin' to a woman, I don't keer what kind she is."

"You're hale and hearty yet," I said, "and I don't see why you don't take some of your own advice."

"Don't crowd the mourners, mister," he said, waving his hand as if warding off my attack. "Don't you crowd the mourners. I'm figuring on sever'l this very minute, and I ain't quite shore yet which one, to pick. I've been married four times, and every time my notions uv women has got so much higher that I'll be derned ef I don't kinder look forrerd to losin' a wife jist for the satisfaction uv gittin' another one.

The idea was so entirely new that I was overcome by it. No matter, Get his note and bring

"No matter, Get his note and bring it to me."

"There was no trouble in carrying out this request, the debtor expressing his delight at being allowed to sextle at the trouble of writing a worthless obligation. The lawyer took it to the President, and said: 'Now what?'

"This,' replied the President, as he wrote his name across the back. I indorse it; now demand payment.'

"The office-holder was in a leading hotel when the lawyer walked up to him and asked a settlement as he handed him the note. The fellow sneered until he turned the paper over. Then he turned purple, stammered out a request that the lawyer wait there for ten minutes, and inside of that time he was back with the money. From then on he was smart enough to pay as he went, and now plumes himself on the fact that the President of the United States once indorsed his personal note."

the weather bow, that the captain decided to put her off before it and scud for the night with the hope that by daybreak the gale would abate sufficiently to allow the ship to come up on the wind and make some westing. When we put the ship about her head paid off rapidly, and she fell into the trough of the sea, while the waves broke clear over her stern. Capt. Bunker was standing aft on the poop deck at the time, giving the necessary directions for wearing ship, when as she broached to and lay wallowing in the watery abyss for an instant, a huge comber struck her, rolled over the weather rail, and, breaking on the deck, rushed like a cataract into the lee waterways, carrying the captain with it, and throwing him violently against the bulwarks, where his feet sild under a spare spar which was lashed there for use in cases of emergency. This sea was almost immediately followed by a second, much heavier than the preceding one, and so quickly that the captain was unable to extricate himself from has awkward and dangerous position, and was raised bodily almost upright, with his legs still caught under the spar. extricate himself from has awkward and dangerous position, and was raised bodily almost upright, with his legs still caught under the spar. He cried out lustily for help, and the second mate ran quickly to his assistance, while I went to the wheel and put the ship before the wind.

It was a serious task to get the captain out of his predicament, as he was unable to help himself, and begged them to be gentle. He appeared to be in great agony, which is not to be wondered at, for when we got him free at last, we found that both his legs were broken below the knees. The supercargo had some knowledge of surgery, and he succeeded in setting the broke himbs, but he advised us to take the ship back so Southampton or to the hearest port, so that the injured main could receive proper care and attention. To this proposition Capt. Bunker strenuously objected; in fact, he would not hear of it at all, declaring in the strongest terms possible that while he was alive his place was aboard the ship, and she should not go back to Southampton as long as he was able to retain command. He then gave me positive orders to make the best of my way to New York with the ship.

In the mean while the vessel had positive orders to make the best of my way to New York with the ship.

In the mean while the vessel had been speeding on before the gale like a racehorse on the homestretch. All night long the tempest raged, all night long she plunged and tossed, laboring heavily while the savage winds tore at her as if striving to pull her from her watery bed, but the good ship continued on her course undaunted.

My only thought was to obey the orders I had received and get the ship to New York, so I remained on deck most of the time, trying to pierce the inky blackness of the night, anxiously awaiting the coming day, when I in-

Again at all hazards,
At daybreak I imagined that I felt a slight lull in the storm, and upon looking at the barometer for the huning the next hour it began to rise slowly.

The gale was abating!

By six bells I was able to haul by the wind and make sail. I shaped a course toward New York as close as the wind would permit. Nothing of moment occurred during the remainder of our voyage, saye that we encountered head

Capt. Bunker had grown much worse during the last week on ship board, and by the time we arrived in New York he was in a precarious condition.

"Stick to the ship, my boy." he said to me as he was carried over the side, "she is good for many a blow. Do the best you good for many a blow. It was near the last of March. 18di, when we lay moored in the Meray, our sails loosed to a bowline, and flapping in the brack morning breeze Tholast off and hoisted on board by rightfull. I was obliged to ship a number of new men in place of those who had deserted on our arrival, and, after clearing my ship. I awaited the first ebb tide for sailing.

Just before daybreak the Emerald Isle swang round head to the stream, a light favorable breeze sprung up, and with cable hove short and topsalis sheeted home, we broke out our archive springs up at dawn. Out past the piers and over the bar, out into the clear and over the bar, out into the cl

In the year 1860 I was chief mate of the packet ship Emerald Isle, a vessel of 3000 tons burden, which left Southampton under the command of Capt. Ezra Bunker. Although I was but 21 years old at the time, I had been promoted in the place of the former mate, who had left the ship this trip.

We had fine weather down the Channel and for three days afterward, but on the fourth day we encountered a heavy western gale, which continued for two days, and during which we were obliged to lay hove to most of the time. At the end of the second day the gale increased to such an extent, with a high running sea coming up over the weather bow, that the captain decided to put her off before it and soud for the night with the hope that by

New Orleans.

It was a long voyage, fully forty days being consumed before I found myself to the southward of Cuba directing my course to the westward. Strange to relate, I had seen no vessel of any kind after leaving the English Channel. Light baffling winds and calms had followed one another with exasperating regularity for days at a time, and when we did have a breeze it was usually dead ahead, but finally we made Tortugas Light one night about 10 o'clock, and shaped a course for the delta of the Mississippi.

When we were within about two authorities.

I was certain, however, that I would be unable to do this without some trouble, for I knew that the mate and supercargo were both southern sympathizers, as we had had many controversies during the voyage on the question of secession, and I did not know how far their influence had been exerted with the crew, so that in case of a mutiny I was uncertain where I stood. The second mate and boatswain were both staunch Union men, and I knew that I could rely upon them in case of trouble.

swain were both staunch Union men, and I knew that I could rely upon them in case of trouble.

So there were on this ship, within two days sail of port, the very element of warfare that were now at odds in our country, and I, a mere boy, had a task to perform which would have caused anxiety to far older heads than mine. I resolved to take the initiative, however, and therefore requested the tow mates and the supercargo to come below into the cabin, leaving the boatswain in charge of the deck.

I sent the steward and cabin boy on deck, and when we were alone, I said:
"Now, gentlemen, you have heard the news that this fisherman has given us; what do you think is the proper thing to do in regard to this ship, which is bound to the country of an enemy of the Federal States?"

For a moment no one replied, but I saw the mate and supercargo exchanging glances, then the mate spoke:
"Well, captain," he said, "I don't see that there is anything for you to do but to obey the orders of your owners, and take your cargo to New Orleans."

fisication, thereby losing both ship and cargo."

"O. I guess the ship will be all right, captain." said the mate, with a meaning smile, in which he was joined by the supercargo, "while as to the cargo. I calculate it will find its rightful owners if you put the Emerald Isle along side the levee at New Orleans."

"What do you mean, sir?" I asked, surprised to see the man show his hand so quickly.

"Why, surely captain, you must know that this cargo is intended for the use of the Southern Confederacy!" he answered, seeming to be very much astonished.

For the Southern Confederacy! Now

"Captain," he said breathlessly, "I protest against this course of yours!"
"Mr. Barstow," I answered coolly, "if you attempt to make any trouble on this ship I will put you in irons. I have yet to learn that the master of a ship is responsible to his officers for his actions: take your station for tacking ship, sir."

He hesitated for a moment, then ran forward crying.

"Ave, aye, sir!" came the cheery response.

Almost instantly the mate appeared at the cabin hatch, followed by the supercargo. The mate was pale as a ghost and was evidently much excited.

The primary department of the Immanuel Presbyterian Sunday-school gave a Christmas party yesterday afternoon in the church parlors for the benefit of the children of the Protestant Orphans' Home, including sixty in number. Owing to sickness in the home the children were unable to be present, and the members of the Sunday-school sent them many gifts in the way of toys, bon-bon boxes and refreshments of ices, cakes and apples. The rooms were handsomely decorated with red and green, holly and smilax being used in great profusion. About one hundred and fifty little tots sat down to a large table and enjoyed refreshments, after which a real live Santa Claus put in his appearance and escorted them to the ladies' parlor, where a Christmas tree, laden with presents and elaborately decorated, had been prepared by the mothers of the children, much to their surprise. They were remembered with bon-bon boxes, fruits, nuts, etc. heir surprise. They were remembered with bon-bon boxes, fruits, nuts, etc.

Miss Grace Elliott Woodward and Master William Eddy Woodward, the four-year-old twin children of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Woodward, were christened yesterday at the family home. No. 1112 Douglass street. Rev. Mr. Henry of Park Church officiated. Following the ceremony refreshments were served in the dining-room which was decorated with red and lavender. Those present were: Misses Bessie Henry, Gladys Harvey, Masters Lloyd Weller and Herman Sargent.

The guests of the California Hotel were entertained yesterday evening with a Christmas tree. The hall and double parlors were exquisitely decorated with holly, pepper berries, mistletoe, pepper branches, smilax, potted plants, ferns and palms. In the back parlor was the Christmas tree, heavily laden with remembrances from the guests to their friends. The tree was decorated with strings of pop corn, and numerous electric lights of various colors. The presents were distributed by Herbert Gregg, assisted by Messrs. McComber, Stevens and others. After the tree had been stripped of its presents, the rooms were cleared and dancing was participated in, previous to which three men. Messrs. Gregg, Stevens and McComber, gowned to represent women, gave the skirt dance and other fancy dances.

Mrs. O. W. Childs of Hoover street gave a Christmas party Sunday afternoon, complimentary to her daughter. Miss Emeleen Childs. There were twenty-four of her little friends present, and the feature of the afternoon was a Christmas tree and a Santa-Claus, who distributed the gifts to the guests. The tree was decorated with pop corn, toys, candies, nuts and fruits. After the children had received their presents an elaborate supper was served.

OUR FORTHCOMING MIDWINTER

Midwinter Number of The Times, to be issued on January 1, next, will surpass in interest and value any special number ever issued from this office, and will be in every respect worthy of the section the incomparable resources, attractions and progress of which it will represent. It will be issued in the popular magazine form, with beautiful lithograph cover, and will be other engravings, presenting attractive scenes in Southern California. There will be a comprehensive glance at the progress and present whole being amply illustrated by THE TIMES artist. The edition will comprise at least 100,000 copies.

For the purpose of informing friends at a distance in regard to Southern California, there is nothing obtainable which will compare with The Times' Midwinter Number This issue will be furnished for 10 cents a copy, and will be mailed to any point in the United States for 18 cents.

The Times desires, Mr. Bulla, to address to you a few words in a spirit of truth and soberness, as a Republican journal speaking to a Republican. First and foremost, let it be distinctly understood that The Times feels toward you no sort of enmity or ill will It entertains toward you, on the contrary, the friendliest of feelings and the best wishes for your success in all the affairs of your private life.

Your aspiration, Mr. Bulla, to the position of United States Senator from California, is an honorable aspiration such as any good citizen has an un doubted moral and legal right to entertain. But circumstances have so shaped themselves that your candidacy is impracticable. You cannot possibly be chosen to the high office to which you aspire. You have not, and you canecure. A following sufficiently numerous to insure your election. Your case is practically hopeless, so far as the achievement of your honorable ambition is concerned. Your candidacy if persisted in, will divide the strength of the anti-railroad forces, and may result in the election of a Southern Pacific henchman to the high position of United States Senator.

Would not this be a grave calamity for the State of California, Mr. Bulla? If it be within your power to avert so grave a calamity, is it not your manifest duty to do so at any cost, and at any sacrifice to yourself? Can you reconcile your sense of duty as a citisen and a Republican with any coursewhether dictated by personal ambition or by some other motive-which would enable the Southern Pacific Company of Kentucky to place one of its agents and situation demands that you should possible for him to overthrow the railroad forces. You should make this personal sacrifice freely and gracefully, for the good of the people of the State primarily, for the good of the Repub-lican party specifically, and for your erase the term "North" and "South" as own good incidentally. You are still a applied to that church. When the secu young man. You have a future. It lar sinner has reached the hatchet-rests with you to determine whether rests with you to determine whether rests with you to determine whether brother ought surely to go as far in the work of reconciliation, if not farther. selfish, narrow and ruinous course in the bloody chasm, thank heaven, is the present crisis, or will exercise a rapidly being transformed into a lofty win for you the esteem, gratitude and edmiration of the Republican party and of the honest people of the entire State of California. The decision of this phase of the question rests with you, and with you alone. Whether with your knowledge and nsent or not, Mr. Bulla, your candihas been laid open to the susion that it is being used in the in-

Burns. The Burns "push" in Los An geles are vociferously shouting for "Bulla"-which is a sure indication that their alleged support of him is dishonest, and that they are merely keeping his vote in this county together in order to prevent its going to some man who is an opponent of Burns and the railroad, and whose chances of election are good, which yours are not. If you do not know, Mr. Bulla, that your election to the Senatorship is a virtual impossibility, the men who are so noisily and ostentatiously "supporting" you know it-or at least a maority of them do. They propose to keep you in the fight, if possible, for an ulterior purpose-that of helping Burns and the railroad, and diverting votes that the Southern Pacific never assists from their real opponents. This in the election to office of any man that scheme is certainly not so deep that you it cannot use. This being the case, if cannot perceive the selfish motives which are back of it.

For these reasons, Mr. Bulla, The Times, on behalf of the Republican party and the people of California, appeals to you in a friendly spirit, but with urgency, to sacrifice your personal ambition on the altar of the public good by withdrawing from the Senatorial race. It appeals to your patriotism, to your honesty as a man and a Republican, to your public spirit, and to your common sense, to assist the people in defeating their enemies, the Southern Pacific and its henchmen, one of the chief of whom is Dan Burns If it be your honest desire to see an anti-railroad man elected to the Senatorship-and we believe it is-you should withdraw from the race without unnecessary delay and permit such strength as you may have in the Legislature to go to the only Southern California candidate who has the least chance of election-Ulysses S. Grant of San Diego. Your withdrawal, as above pointed out, would advance you in the estimation of the honest people, not only of Southern California, but of the entire State and would immeasurably promote your chances for future preferment, should you again be a candidate for office. Is it not apparent that your position as an unselfish citizen and loyal Republican would be infinitely better than that of the leader of a forlorn hope resting under the imputation of tacit consent to, if not active cooperation with, the corrupt and unscrupulous machinations of the railroad gang, Think well and carefully of these things, Mr. Bulla.

the regents of the University of California, will visit the various points in the East where the men who are being considered in connection with the presidency of the university are engaged, in order to obtain all possible information in reference to the qualifications of those men. This is a wise course to nursue, and it is evidence that the regents will not be so narrow and pro-vincial as to limit the field in their choice to this State. It is well to be loyal to the State, and, the qualifications of the candidates being equal, the president should be chosen from qualification, California, but geography, should be the first consid-

THE HONEST WAY OUT.

The Evening Express, as was to be anticipated, files to the rescue of Mr. Bulla and in doing so attempts to make it appear that The Times has maligned that gentleman. The readers of these columns are well aware of the fact that The Times has done nothing of the mistake was made by the late Republican County Convention in listening "indorsement," and it further knows that two of the Dan Burns breed of politicians in Los Angeles, W. F. X Parker and H. Z. Osborne, have been traveling back and forth between San Francisco and Los Angeles for the past four weeks in order to get "pointers" on the Senatorial situation. We know further that they recently returned home and began filling the air with shouts for Bulla. As Osborne and Parker are for nothing but what is agree able to Dan Burns and the Southern Pacific company, it is as plain as a pikestaff that Mr. Bulla, whether with his knowledge or without it, is being kept in the fight in order to weaken the opposition to Burns.

The claim of the Express that Mr

Bulla is backed by a "solid delegation from this county" counts for nothing more than this—the delegation is pledged to vote for Mr. Bulla, but when they have cast one ballot for him they have done all that is demanded of m by the spirit and letter of their instructions. The Times dislikes to be lieve that Mr. Bulla is being made a tool of by the Burns push, and it would be grieved still more deeply from Los Angeles is a party to the nefarious effort that is being made to turn the Legislature of California into a ratification meeting of William F. Herrin's selection of a candidate for the United States Senate, but if Mr Bulla persists in holding the legislators of this county to the letter of their in structions he will rest under the grave suspicion of being one of two things the dupe of the Southern Pacific's po Htical managers or their active ally.

Mr. Bulla knows, and his friends know, that his chances of election are absolutely nil unless Dan Burns comes to his support, and the people know Mr. Bulla is to maintain himself in the good opinion of the people of this section of the State he will at once release the delegation from this county and permit them to use their strength where it will be effective in overcoming the common enemy, or he will suffer under the odlum of being at least a passive ally to that enemy. The Evening Express insists that The Times shall give Mr. Bulla "fair, hon-est and sincere treatment." This The Times has done and will continue to do, and we demand from Mr. Bulla fair, honest and sincere treatment of the people in order that they shall not betrayed into the hands of that detestable corporation which has for so many years cursed the State of Califor nia with its interference in political affairs and ridden to death under the spur of its conscienceless exactions.

There is more than a fighting to defeat the Huntington gang in the forthcoming battle at the State capital if the forces in opposition are to combine against enemy and are not kept in small commands on detached service guarding political hencoops that are empty of chickens. Mr. Bulla is in position lo a service to the State by withdraw ing from this hopeless contest in which ne is engaged. Will he do it? The people are waiting to see!

PROCLAMATION TO CURANS.

The proclamation of the American Evacuation Commissioners to the in-habitants of the island of Cuba is a ensible, straightforward declaration, which leaves no room for doubt as to its meaning. Its tone is authoritative ithout being in the least offensive. I does not deal in circumlocution, and i is free from superfluous verbiage. goes straight to the point, in the good American way, and lays down the dure to be observed from the time the Americans formally assume responsibility for the conduct of affairs.

It will be well for the inhabitants of Cuba if they accept the situation and submit to the authority of the United States with good grace. They are bound to submit in the end, whether with good grace or otherwise. They will save themselves trouble by acquiescing in all measures at the outset, which the Americans see fit to put in force. There are good reasons for be-lieving that they will meet their liberators half way, and will assist cordially to the extent of their ability, in ing about the rehabilitation of the isl

Cubans, which was exhibited quite freely immediately following the evidently fast disappearing, if, indeed, it has not already practically dis-appeared. These liberated people are learning that we really meant what w said when we declared that they should not only be freed from the Spanish yoke, but should be permitted to govern themselves so soon as they were able to do so. In the face of our often repeated declarations to that effect before the world, they can no longer doubt our disinterestedness, nor our firm purpose to keep our promises to the letter. If they had known the American peo ple better they would never doubted us in the first place. But their of oppression and general misrule did not tend to make them very credulous nation, and on this ground, perhaps, they may be forgiven their suspicions.

For a time the Cubans will be reuired to submit implicitly to American authority. Peace in the island must be maintained at all hazards, and the American troops will maintain it. The Cubans are unskilled in the art of gov-ernment. They must be educated up to the standard of safe, just and liberal self-government. The period of probation through which they will be re-quired to pass before achieving com-plete independence will depend in large part upon themselves. If they prove apt and eager pupils, their complete autonomy may be established within a year—possibly, though not probably, in less time than that. But, in any event, American authority will not be withdrawn from the island until a stable t government has been established. The task which we have undertaken must,
and will, be accomplished, and our work will not be complete until good gov- ernment, controlled by the people of Cuba, prevails throughout the island.

That team of deep-sea buildogs, the Oregon and Iowa, are moving along at a lively clip, and will soon be kenneled that The Times has done nothing of the sort, but this newspaper believes that Aguinaldo gets a view of the pair, it is an even bet that he will conclude that his desire for authority to declare war has been transformed into an earnest hankering for continued peace.

LOS ANGELES. Willie Collier "The Man from Mexico" reached the city Sunday via cell No. 77, Blackwell's Island, and reduced several hundred people, who paid him their respects at the Los Angeles Theater the same evening, to a pulp of joyous merriment by the exploitation of his experiences en route. Gifted by nature with an exceptionally dry and spontaneous humor, and having accumulated a particularly artistic finish that is evidenced in all he does, Mr. Collier is the right man in the right place when delineating the title role in Du Souchet's cleverly-conceived and admirably-constructed play. That man from Mexico seems not only born to trouble, he acquires it, he has it thrust upon him. What he doesn't succeed in doing himself in the way of getting into tight places, his friends do for him, and his suave, imperturbable, indestructible ingenuity in extricating himself from them all, is one of the chief charms of the play. ceptionally dry and spontaneous hu-

The gravest impediment seems to be that when he lies his friends tell the truth, and vice versa. But if it were not so, one of the most thoroughly enjoyable concoctions of its kind would be brought to an untimely end, and that is the very thing the audience most wants not to happen. The longer the end is in coming the more fun for the spectator, and when it does come the climax is so wholly unexpected so entirely what no one perhaps except Du Souchet could have evolved, that it is the culminating conceit of an entire evening of whimsical deliclous surprises, and Mr. Collier makes the very most of every one of them. The lines bristle with wit, the action flags not for a second, the situations are irresistibly funny, the whole play is a masterpiece in its capacity to make one forget his own troubles in a total abandonment to unholy glee over the troubles of Benjamin Fitzhugh, gentleman, whilom, convict. alleged caballero from the City of Mexico. Camilla Urso played Weinmaski's arrangement of Russian airs, a number that was a trifle too classical for the gallery gods, and as a consequence the lads expressed their disapprobation, but when the quaint little lady followed with that plaintive and soulful bit of homely American meledy, "Suanee Ribber," and Paganini's "Carnival of Venice" they were goodness itself to her. BURBANK. Did you ever look into kaleidoscope, slowly turning it the BURBANK. Did you ever look into a kaleidoscope, slowly turning it the while? You see a lot of little particles at the other end, a variegated assortment of shapes and colors, each bearing no apparent relation to the others, yet, as the machine revolves, they constantly change, forming always different designs, some pretty, some curious, yet, as the machine revolves, they constantly change, forming always different designs, some pretty, some curious, some unique, and some funny. That is what is at the Burbank this week in "All Aboard," as presented by the Ott Company. The house was packed to the roof last night, hundreds were turned away before 8 o'clock, and those there saw through the proscenium something as nearly resembling a human kaleidoscope as has yet been evolved from the brain of man. Advertisements and advance notices alike have made no claim other than that it was a string of fun and nonsense, and the performance realized the prophesy. There are three acts, the first the interior of a doctor's office: the second, the realistic vista of a raliway car, with landscape and telegraph poles on either side; the third, another house interior, a residence; all simply a background for the members of the company to do apparently whatever comes into their several heads to do on the spur of the moment. There are specialties of all kinds-songs, dances, character sketches, eccentric and otherwise: pretty girls, pretty clothes, pratty music, and absurdly humorous lines and irresistibly funny situations. There is no plot to follow; in fact, a premium is offered to any one who can find a plot; nothing to do but sit and grin at whatever happens to appeal to your eye or your ear, or both, with no thought of the future and no possibility of remembering what is past. That would be impossible. Things are happening altogether too fast. The big audience was spontaneously cordial, the laughs continuous. lines and irresistibly funny situations. Phil and Matt Ott are fun-makers well and widely known. The mere mention of their names insures a reminiscent chuckle. Their respective makeups in 'All Aboard' are gems of their kind, and far beyond any possible description. One is a vicious-looking crook, the other the apotheosis of a tramp. For the rest and their unique and original "business"—it must be seen, it is well worth it. Barry Maxwell is an unctuous Jew, well sustained: likewise a colored porter, also well done, including a song. John Donahue is a detective, afterward a conductor; his name is Dizzy, and he looks it. George Ebner plays the doctor in whose office the first act transpires; he also does some good work as a deaf old man in the car scene, and is particularly clever in a specialty in the last act, where he imitates a cornet and trombone in a stirring march. Thomas Cook is a terror; that is, it says so on the bill, and he lives up to it. The ladies in the cast, of which there are seven, keep up their share of the fun; they are good to look at, and in the great cake-walk scene they all give a lively imitation of the real thing.

"All Aboard" will hold the boards, and will probably carry them, too, to packed houses the rest of the week, with matinées Wednesday and Saturday.

The grand jury in Santa Barbara county has been digging into the af-fairs of the office of the Sheriff of that county and the result is a discovery that creates a sensation. The jury's report says a large number of serious overchanges have been made, and orders the District Attorney to enter suit to collect the amounts. One of the specific charges is that Sheriff Hicks charged mileage to Los Angeles and back—both ways—for six prisoners; that the warrant was honored by the Supervisors and Hicks was paid, the excess over legal charges being $132. These grand juries are sometimes a very disturbing element in the pursuit of office holding for what there is in it.

REDONDO MYSTERY.

NO IDENTIFICATION OF MAN'S BODY FOUND ON SHORE.

His Pockets Were Weighted With Rock Fragments and There Was a Bullet Hole Through His Brain-Doubtful Whether Murder or Sulcide.

The identity of the man whose body was recovered from the sea near Re-dondo Sunday, was not discovered at the Coroner's inquest yesterday, and the remains were buried as unknown.

The corpse was found near the fishermen's camp about three miles southerly from Redondo. The shore near that place is rocky, and there is a great quantity of kelp in all the waters near that spot. It is therefore virtu-ally impossible that the body may have floated from any considerable distance out at sea, or from any other point along the coast. Soon after it was discovered the corpse was brought distance out at sea, or from any other point along the coast. Soon after it was discovered the corpse was brought to Cate's place in Redondo, dnd was kept in charge of City Marshal Maxey.

The man had been dead probably two or three days, and the body had been afloat, although when found it had been left by the tide. Nothing that appeared to have any connection with the case was found near where the body was lying.

The man had been about 60 years of age. He was 5ft. 6in. high and weighed about 150 pounds. Some of the features had been destroyed, lut the skin of the face was preserved wonderfully, and had the appearance of parchment. He was nearly toothless.

There was only a slight beard. The hair and mustache were thin and long, and both had evidently been dyed from gray to black. He had dark slightly-striped trousers, nearly new, and a black cutaway coat and vest which were well worn. The shirt was white, and there was attached a white collar bearing a laundry mark, "189 B." was also found on the coltaing. The laundry mark on the collar had been changed several times, but only the uncanceled mark could be deciphered. In his vest pocket was a Geneva silver watch, into which the sea water had run. The watch had stopped at 2:03. o'clock. If was said the water, running into the watch as it had done, would have stopped the movement in two or three minutes. The timepice had a central key wind.

Eleven pounds of pieces of rock were distributed about the several coat pockets. There was no money in the pockets, and no papers that would indicate who the man was except an envelope which was crumpled in an inner pocket. When first taken from the clothing the envelope was scarcely more than a piece of pulp, but after being dried and carefuly unfolded, a partial address was found written on it in ink. The name was in part, "C. C. Spenc—." The rest of the name was gone. There was sufficient writing below to make it evident that the address was "San Francisco, Cal."

In one of the pockets there were a number of 38-caliber r

A New Year's Gift.

There is no one thing you can give a man that compares with an umbrella—not one.

If he goes broke, he can always have something to "put up" and not "soak" his clottles. If he is a Republican, he will always have protection: If he is a Democrat and goes to church and leaves his good umbrella right by somebody's poor one, he'll see-how "free trade" works. If he is a plain, everyday eltizen, he'll have a handle to his name.

We're going to have plenty of wet rains early in January, and 1899 is going to be the greatest year Southern California has ever seen. We'll even rival "boom year." A good umbrella. Scotch twill. costs $1: a good gingham umbrella, with steel rod handle, $1.25, and a good Glorin silk, with all the new improvements. $1.50, $1.75, $2 and $2.50. Don't worry about rain. Buy an umbrella. You'll need and need it bad.

BUSINESS WILL NOT LAG.

To-day's business resumes the quieter conditions that follow Christmas excitement, but we shall not permit it to lag. Every day will have interesting merchandise and price features. The Christmas trade has demonstrated two things.

FIRST—the grand central station of the Dry Goods trade has changed from Second and Spring to Broadway below Third.

SECOND-our first Christmas in the new store, and the twenty-first in Los Angeles, shows that our idea! has been approached but not fully realized. The store will continue to grow and, as we said above, business will not be permitted to lag simply because a holiday has come and gone. There is much to interest you here to-day

ARSENIC AND OHLOROFORM. Suicide of Comrade Brooks of the Soldiers' Home.

An old man wearing the Soldiers' Home uniform committed suicide at the Watson lodging-house, No. 123 South Main street yesterday afterneon. There were no papers on his person by which he could be identified, but his clothing bore the mark "F 2, 3328." This being communicated to the Sol-diers' Home authorities by telephone, the reply soon came that the victim was William M. Brooks, late of Co. A, Bixtieth New York Infantry.

Brooks was admitted to the home.

September 18, 1896. He was 62 years old, and was afflicted with heart disease. His only known relative is a brother-in-law, S. A. Graves of Grin-

The old veteran took lodgings at the Watson House last Friday afternoon. He complained of being ill, and kept himself closely secluded in his room. About 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon he made his way to the kitchen and he made his way to the kitchen and asked to be shown the way to the toilet-room. The landlady noticed that he was so weak that he could scarcely walk, and that his eyes had a wild and staring look. She asked him if he had had anything to eat since Sunday. He replied that he had not, and didn't want anything.

An hour or two after he returned to his room, the landlady, alarmed at his appearance, decided to force him to eat something or to send for a doctor. When she went to the door of his room she found it bolted on the inside, and she could get no response to her knocking. Then she called a policeman, and told him that she feared her lodger was dead.

Officer Broadhead gained entrance to the room by forcing a window, and found the old man lying on the bed dead. He was fully dressed. On a stand beside the bed were two empty three-ounce chloroform bottles, an empty tumbler and a paper containing arsenic. The body was sent to Orr & Hines's morgue, where an inquest will be held today.

It is considered all but certain that the old man committed suicide by swal-old man committed suicide by swall ving arsenic. One of the empty loroform bottles bore the label of F lowing arsenic. One of the empty chloroform bottles bore the label of F. J. Glese, druggist: the other bore the label of the C. F. Laux pharmacy. Mr. Glese, when questioned, stated that an old soldier answering the description of the suicide purchased a three-ounce vial of chloroform of his last Friday or Saturday. The old man said he wanted it for external use as liniment, and took the cheapest grade. At Laux's pharmacy it was stated that a man answering the description of Brooks bought chloroform there last Thursday or Saturday. He came with a four-ounce bottle that bore the label of Wolff & Chilson, which he asked to have refilled. He was accommodated with the best grade of the drug. No registry of the sale was made at either place, as it was not deemed necessary. There was nothing suspicious about the actions of the man, so no questions were asked him.

Chloroform having been used by Brooks in such large quantities, it is presumed that he did use it externally. This theory is considered all the more probable owing to the fact that he was walking about in full possession of his senses an hour or two before his death. Arsenic is most probably the drug that killed him.

ANTI-IMPERIALISTS.

Gov. Pingree Foots the Bill for Meeting-The Protests.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

BOSTON, Dec 26.—In reply to a tele-graphic request of Gov. Pingree of Michigan for a speaker for anti-imperialist meeting in Detroit tomorrow night, the Anti-Imperialist League has sent Rev. Samuel F. Fuller of Boston,

Gov. Pingree bearing the expense.

The protests received by the league today include one from a branch of the Federation of Labor in Montana, from the Unitarian Club of Jackson, Mich.; from fifty-four citizens in Clark county Va., and from Ohio, Wisconsin, Minne-sota, Alabama, Texas, California and other States.

Secretary Winslow of the league will send to every member of the House and Benate a letter urging them to prevent the ratification of the treaty, as it stands, making the point that one-third of the Senate can accomplish now what hereafter will require a majority of each branch and the approval of the President.

Snow entries having been extended to January 3, a large number of animals, are being entered on the books of the association.

Besides the large number of horses and vehicles to be exhibited by W. 8. Hobart and others of San Francisco and Burlingame, the following entries have been made:

The famous Silkwood and four of his get; Neernut and four of his get; Neernut and four of his colts; the great trotting horse, Native State, owned by C. E. Mayne of this city; Mr. Sproul's great imported thoroughbred stallion Conbeth; the great trotter Toggles, owned by Graham E. Babcock of Coronado; the imported pony Bantam, owned by Mr. Stanley of Santa Ana, which has taken many ribbons in previous exhibitions; Dr. Lyman's prize-winning saddle horse Rex McDonald; Mr. Budinger's Gray Jim; a team entered by the Panorama Stables; Mrs. Taylor's beautiful team of Shetland ponies; three or four polo and racing ponies of Bakewell Phillips of Pasadena; Norman S. Sterry's high-school saddle horse King Hopeful, and a host of others too numerous to mention.

There are also a great number of horses entered by Walter S. Newhall, Mrs. M. S. Severance, Dr. Wills. Mrs. O. P. Posey, Dr. Hitchcock, Mr. Erkenbrecher, Mr. Donegan, R. Barrett Fithian of Santa Barbara, F. E. Browne, G. L. Waring of Riverside, Maj. Off and elsewhere attention has been given to the display of heavy draft horses, delivery wagons, mounted police, ponies of every description and in fact every style and condition of horse. Special efforts are being made to fill the classes last mentioned, and it is believed that many entries will be obtained so that everything from the finest appointed four-in-hand to a city delivery wagon may be exhibited.

VISITORS OUTCLASSED. Kitty Scott Defeats the San Fran cisco Coursing Dogs.

Kitty Scott Defeats the San Francisco Coursing Dogs.

Kitty Scott, the little brown and white bitch owned by Ed Parsons of Los Angeles, won first money in the coursing yesterday at Agricultural Park, defeating all the San Francisco dogs. She ran the final with Reat Assured, a northern dog from Bartell Bros'. kennel, one of the fastest in the bunch brought here. The crowd went wild when kitty was announced as winner. A dozen or more rushed to the gate to carry her to the paddock. It was no easy matter to win as she did from such dogs as Daisy Hamburg. Hadiwist, Lassie Hayes and Lady Herschel, yet it mattered not how fast they ran, Kitty led them to the hare and was never headed afterward.

It was one of the best days of the year, both in point of attendance and sport. The grand stand was filled, the betting booths were half a dozen deep with those who considered themselves "sure things" in the way of picking out the winners. It cost money to win a small pot yesterday, as the talent were in the ascendancy and called the turn in all but three or four courses, but this did not prevent short-end money from trying to get a place. In the final there was all kinds of money on Rest Assured at 2½ to 2 in favor of Kitty Scott, and all offered was taken.

The northern dogs were lucky in the wind-up, winning money enough to pay expenses. The owners are so pleased with the class of dogs pitted against them that they will come here again. The San Francisco dog-owners thought they had an easy thing here, but with Kitty Scott as first and Doncaster third they have been taught a lesson.

Mac's Melody and Nashville ran a fine course. The hare was fast and the hounds got a good sight only to be led down center field to the extreme north end, thence back to starting point, where the hare turned toward center and the hounds lagged. A spin was made toward the south escape, through which the hare dashed just as both dogs were winded. The hare certainly had the sympathy of the crowd. The winners of yesterday were:

A SEASIDE EXPERIENCE.

Little Quiet Joke on the Family. While we were at the seaside last summer sprung a little experiment on my family. Inoticed that husband and the children were all lacking in energy and go, and something seemed wrong with them.

We had-been using coffee every morning and it gradually dawned upon me that perhaps this was the cause.

Without saying anything, I bought a pack age of the Postum Food Coffee, and having properly made, I gave my own special attention to it. For about a week we used it, and not one of the family knew but what they were drinking the best coffee. When I finally told them that it was Postum, my husband laughed and said, "Let us continue on the Postum. I have been feeling better for the past week, and didn't exactly know why." The difference in the whole family is very marked, and you can imagine I can recommend Postum with good grace and much pleasure. Mrs. Alice E. Scarlett, Yolo, Yolo county, Cal

After using this wonderful remedy and testing its merits on more than 10,000 men in California and surrounding States, BEN-YAN is now offered for sale the first time. Its merits were known years ago, but BEN-BEY determined not to place it on the market until it had been thoroughly tested and its wonderful power demonstrated.

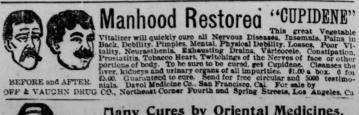

This great remedy was discovered by BEN-BEY while solourning in the Sandwich Islands, and was suggested by the wired story of a Kanaka. This is the only remedy known to science which will develop weak and undersized organs.

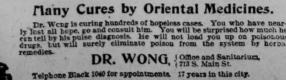

Its action on the nerve centers postitively and foreer cures nervous diebility of every name, form and nature.

BEN-YAN will vitalize the circulation and nerves; strengthen debilitated and weakened organs—develop, calarge and restore them, and thus make a new existence. It also cures leucorrhoca and all forms of female weakness.

This wonder-working remedy can be obtained from the BEN-BEY MEDICAL CO., 211-215. Nolan & Smith Building, cor. Second and Broadway. LUCKY BURGLAR WHO WENT TO

Home of Merrill Whiton Visited by Man in a Box Car-Elaborate Christmas Fete at the Academy

Christmas Fete at the Academy of the Holy Names.

PASADENA, Dec. 26.—[Regular Correspondence.] When Merrill Whiton and his wife of No. 70 Palmetto Drive, approached their house, on their way home from church last night, they saw a lamp glimmering in the kitchen. "I supposed I didn't leave the lamp burning," said Mrs. Whiton, but she thought nothing more of it till they went up on the porch, when they heard some-body hustling out of the back door. As soon as they looked around inside, they saw they had received a visit from a burgiar, who had entered through a window, first tearing off the wire screen and finding no difficulty in raising the sash, which was not fastened. Going into the kitchen, he lighted a lamp and proceeded about his business, which they evidently interrupted by their return before he had gone very far.

He ransacked a bureau in a down-stairs bedroom, finding about seven dollars in money and a revolver, which he took in his flight. It was a case of luck, as there was no money in any other place in the house, and by accident it happened to have been put in that drawer. Some silverware was axposed to his view in the kitchen, but in his burry, the burgiar passed it by. "He was lucky and we were lucky too," said Mr. Whiton today.

The police were notified and the Marshal, with two patrolmen, spent all night in a search for the robber. The only clue was a description of a man whom a neighbor had seen going across the Whiton's lawe. The officers scoured the town and the rail-road tracks between this city and Scuth Pezadena. At Raymond Station, they came across as box car, which had been open when they previously passed it, but was new closed. They tried to open the dor. but it was securely braced inside, and they had discovered ont rolled up, and noped they had discovered ont rolled up, and noped they had discovered ont rolled up, and noped they was locked up for her cake of soap. of the young people. Great pains had been taken with the decorations and costumes. and some exceedingly artistic effects were produced.

The performance opened with a motion song, "The Mowers," by twenty wee girls and as a many little boys, carrying sickies and asheaves of grain. They were prettilly dreased, and went through the harvest ng like a scene from an operetta. A concert recitation, "On, Ever On," was given by the boys of the school. Hubert Parker of this city played a violin solo which was most enturisatically received.

One of the striking features of the programme was the dialogue in costume. 'Santa Claus Outwitted.' by young ladies and little girls. It was really a little play, narrating how Santa Claus was persuaded not to go out of business, and it went off dramatically, with many giftering costumes. A plane solo. Rienfecke's ballade, was brilliantly played by Miss Teresa Sullivan. Miss A. L. Andersen of Los Angeles recited Whitcomb Riley's "Monument to the Soldiers," with telling pathos.

Then came the Impersonation, "A Greeting to the New Year," by a large number of exquisitely costumed young ladies and girls. Each month was introduced, with appropriate garniture of flowers, fruits, autumn lexves, snow, licies and stage effects, the mother of the months presenting each of her daughters to the new comer. The last number was a grand sacred chorus by the school, "Night of Nights," with a violin accompaniment by Mr. Parker, which was a great musical success.

Bishop Montgomery made an address, expressing his delight with the performences of the young people, with the thoroughness his delight with the performences of the young people present All chose definition to ecouragement and what it meant to the sisters who had worked so hard and faithfully. CONGREGATIONALIST CHRISTMAS.

The Congregationalist Sunday-school had a delightful festival this evening, St. Nick coming down the chimney in fine style. There was a large attendance. Rev. H. W. Luthe epened the programme with Scripture reading and prayer. An exercise, recitations and music, by the primary class followed, and next came an exhibition by the funers. Two little girls gave cherming recitations. Music was furnished by the Sunday-school orchestra. L. E. Jarvis imperionated Santa Claus and popped out of a hig fireplace which had been built of imitation byicks. When he appeared a swarm of brownies emerged from behind the firefilm and pelted him, to the huge delight of the young and the rest. He made an address and distributed presents.

Santa Ana Eleven Wins a Game of

The grand stand and bleachers were well filled, and the spectators manifested the greatest enthulasm.

The game was scheduled for 2 o'clock, but it was nearly 3 when the ball was kicked off, and darkness had set in before the game was over. San Bernardino made the kick-off. The visitors by snappy playing, line runes and a pretty double pass with a run around the end, soon carried the ball over the home team's goal, the touchdown being made by Parsons. A goal was kicked. Twenty-minutes later H. Walker made a second touchdown, resulting in a goal. The San Bernardino boys limbered up, and Raitt soon after scored a touchdown, from which a goal was kicked. Turner made a third touchdown for the visitors, snatching the ball from Keer's arm, when near the goal. Time was called in the first half with the score standing; Santa Ana, 18; San Bernardino, 6, and the ball on the visitors' five-yard line. In the second haif Raitt made two touchdowns, but only one goal was kicked. Turner made a touchdown for Santa Ana which did not result in a goal. The feature of the game was Raitt's playing. The teams lined up as follows:

CHRISTMAS BURGLARIES.

During the past few days the number of hobos arriving in San Diego has been something alarming. The city's portion of the County Jail is full and running over with loogers, sent up for drunkenness and vargancy. Chief Russel is kept busy with his small force trying to rid the streets of ablebodied ruffians who beg dimes, and who become insolent and threatering if refused.

Since Saturday night helf a dozen burglaries and attempted house-breakings have been reported. The residence of B. C. Lockwood, at Eleventh and C streets, was entered last night while the family was at church. Bureau drawers were ransseked, but the burglars took nothing, so far as learned. The residence of W. R. Rogers, at Seventh and Cedar streets, was also entered, the the thieves were frightened away before they finished their work. Theo Finizelberg's house on Fifth near Grape was broken into, but there the thieves were driven away. Charles S. Hardy's met market was opened, but passers-by scared the thieves.

The chain gang is to be revived at once. Last night it was impossible for the police to handle the crowd of hobos. The burly fellows were well treated by Christmas pedestrians, who almost invariably gave up a dime when asked. The hobos got drunk, and were very inselent. One officer bagged four hobos at once, and the others ran in from two to four each. Until the chain gang is established the hobos have no objection to being arrested, being aure of comfortable quarters and good living at the jail.

Free Fights, Christmas Trees and Good News of the Mines.

RANDSBURG, Dec. 25.—(Regular Correspondence.) The third Christmas in Randsburg and a typical one in a mining camp, with the accompaniments of drinking, swearing and fighting. For the first time since the Fourth of July, all work has stopped, and all the men are idle. It is a gaia day all around, and before 10 o'clock there were at least half a dozen fights and as many eyes in mourning. A Christmas tree for the whole town was prepared in out. Their own mill is running constantly, except Sundays.

The Little Butte people are also interested in the Pacific Coast Company, and own a group of claims on the east side of Gold Hill Mountain a few miles above Dove Springs, about thirty-five miles west of here. They have bought the Smith, ten stamp mill at Garlock, and moved it over to Dove Springs, where they are rebuilding it and will work these claims. A great deal of prospecting has been done on and around Pinon Mountain, and Gold Hill and some wonderfully rich ore is occasionally found, but there has never been any systematic effort at mining done there, nor has there ever been an will over the sun and the s

The Black Hawk is developing finely, and is maintaining its reputation of being one of the best properties here. This mine has a heavy body of low grade ore, and with closer and better milling facilities, which also means cheaper, will be able to mill one that will not now pay to work. The cuddeback lake mill is being taken down and moved te the Black Hawk mine, and is being put up near the principal shaft. This will do away with the long, costly haul of ore. The last run of eighty tons went 315. The O. K. mines lie next to the Black Hawk, and have been purchased by Collins, a New York man. Who is going to work to thoroughly develop them. He has recently struck some very rich ore in cross cutting at a depth of 100 feet. The mines run through a ridge which runs parallel to the Randsburg railway, and only a short distance from it. Work is being carried on on both sides of the ridge in a very practical way, and the outlook is very good. The ore is very similar to the Black Hawk, but some of it is richer.

A few days aso a nugget worth 3455 was found near Kave Springs by J. B. Clifton and Archibald Martin. This is the third large one found in that locality in the last three years. First, Joggers found one worth over 3600, and stayed drunk for six weeks over the find.

"Hon. George C. Perkins, United States Senate, Washington, D. C. Sir: I am in receipt of the report of the postoffice inspector to whom was referred your letter of June 28, asking for the extension of the free delivery service at Pomona, Cal. He states that he cannot conscientiously recommend any further extension of the regular service at Pomona, as neither the revenues of the office nor the number of people to be served would justify the allowance of an additional carrier, without which it would be impossible to give good service over a larger teritory. He suggests, however, that it is a good case for free rural delivery, and I have therefore referred all papers to a special agent of the department who will soon visit Pomona and report as to the advisability of establishing a rural route to accommodate those residing outside the regular free delivery limits. PASADENA ELEVEN DEFEATED. Santa Barbara Team Wins at Flesta

Only a small crowd witnessed the ather slow match between the Santa Barbara and Pasadena Athletic clubs at Fiesta Park yesterday afternoon. Barbara and Pasadena Athletic clubs at Flesta Park yesterday afternoon.

Two or three policemen were in attendance, but that did not in the least prevent a number of small boys from swarming all over the field until Referee James, despairing of continuing the game while surrounded by so many enthusiastic assistants, implored a policeman who was perched high upon the bleachers enjoying his ease, to come to the rescue. The wearer of the star, despite his avordupois, reached the field, and, with characteristic discretion, arrested a man who was standing several feet outside of the side lines, and departed with his prisoner for the city hostelry.

Santa Barbara succeeded in scoring once at the end of the first ten minutes' play, but was unable to repeat the performance, and this was the only scoring done during the game. Santa Barbara kicked off, and the ball was see-sawed back and forth near the Pasadena goal line for some time. The Santa Barbara boys slowly but surely pushed their opponents back, and McCaughy, the left halfback, was shoved across for a touchdown. Chamberlain kicked a hard goal.

Round-up of Hobos.

The police are making a general round-up of hobos to see whether this dourse will not have a tendency to decrease the burglaries and petty larcenies that are taking place in the city highly. Detectives Goodman, Steele and Talamantes last night ran in a gang of soven young fellows who were bunking in a lumber yard off Requena street. All were taken to the Police Station, and searched for burglary tools and stolen property, after which they were locked up on suepicion. The prisoners gave the names of Bill Jones, Thomas Smith, Fred Tucker, James Marden, William Weber, John Wilson, Mike Cooley.

TERIOUSLY DISAPPEARED.

Facts Tend to Show Mental Aberration, Caused by the Use of a Nostrum to Reduce Flesh.

Private detectives in this city are doing their utmost to discover, the whereabouts of Mrs. Ell W. Keller, who is a member of one of the best known families of the country, and who mysteriously disappeared from her home, near the featbills, north of Verbulle. teriously disappeared from her nome, near the foothills, north of Lordsburg, last Thursday. At Pomona there was a good deal of talk of an elopement yesterday, when the news was first made public, the woman's name being connected with that of a man recently a frequenter of that town. A representative of The Times who went to Pomona yesterday to investigate the Pomona yesterday to investigate the reported elopement, could find no evidence to connect the woman's name with that of any man, while the facts in the case would rather seem to in dicate that she had left home while suffering from mental aberration.

Mrs. Keller's maiden name was Belle Rogers, and she and Mr. Keller were married at the home of her parents in Clyde, O., about fifteen years ago. They have had no children, and, notwith-standing an affair which tended to mar their happiness some dozen years ago, and which would give color to the story of elopement, their life in recent years has been a happy one, and there was no reason to believe that she was contemplation. contemplating leaving her beautiful home.

During the World's Fair in Chicago, in 1893, Mrs. Keller and a lady friend residing in this city visited the fair together. Both were suffering from corpulency, Mrs. Keller then weighing in the neighborhood of 150 pounds. After returning, both women began to lose fiesh rapidly, and neither has had a well day from that time. Mrs. Keller has steadily lost fiesh until she now weighs but ninety pounds. For the past weighs but ninety pounds. For the past three months she has hardly been able to take a particle of nourishment, and, during the past few weeks, she has acted very strangely about the house and has been under the almost constant supervision of her husband, who felt that she was suffering from mental af-acted very strangely about the house and has been under the almost constant supervision of her husband, who felt that she was suffering from mental affiction.

It has been the belief of the friends of these women that during their visit to the fair they began using some medicine intended to remove surplus flesh, and that they thereby ruined their health, though neither ever admitted that they were taking such a nostrum.

A few days ago Mrs. Keller, who had her individual bank account, drew her money from the bank, Mr. Keller being told by her that she had had no intention to draw out the money. but when the cashier gave it to her she took it. This added to Mr. Keller's suspicion that all was not right with his wife's mind, and he resolved to watch her more closely. He found that she always carried her purse attached to her waise when awake, and when asleep she managed to have it concealed. The husband has little idea how much money his wife had, but is certain that there was over $100 to her credit at the bank.

Thursday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Keller went for a drive, and shortly after their return. Mr. Keller, missing his wife, and investigation showed that she had taken the cars at Lordsburg for Los Angeles, paying her fare on the cars, and from that time no trace of her has been found.

There ar rumors to the effect that during Mr. Keller's detention in this city as a juryman a few weeks since the house was frequently visited by the man whom the public has suspected of knowing something of Mrs. Keller's present abode, but whether this is true or not, the family deny it emphatically, and there could be found no one who would claim to speak from personal knowledge.

Mr. Keller followed his wife to this city as a juryman a few weeks since the house woman, having beautiful light hair, dark eyes and healthy complexion. As indicated, in recent years her beauty has faded, and though still an attractive woman, she bore physical evidences of the fact that she was a chronic invalid. She is a devout member of the Cotho
